

My name is Patrick Dunlavy, Jr. and I am a Utah native that is committed to making Grantsville a place of opportunity. My priorities are dedicated to keeping Grantsville healthy, growing, and economically stable by encouraging an environment where small businesses can flourish but tradition and heritage are not lost. I hope to promote safe neighborhoods through community service and awareness. I would also like to focus on making Grantsville a cleaner, more efficient, enjoyable place to live.

I have been a Grantsville resident for 12 years, where my wife, Shonnie and I are raising our four children, Ashton age 13, McKinley age 11, Jensyn age 8, and Dawson age 2. I am the Fixed Operations Director of Quality Automotive Group in Tooele, where I have worked for almost 15 years. I enjoy my job and working closely with the public.

Public service is a Dunlavy tradition. As a child, I attended many city council meetings with my father, Tooele City Mayor, Patrick Dunlavy, Sr. I credit my father with teaching me the importance of helping others and being active in the community. I welcome the challenge of running for Grantsville City Council and I look forward to serving my community.
